r Ron,

We attach redlined versions of the Appendix 911 (Appendix A) and the Service Bureau Provider Agreement (SCC-SBC Emergency Services Agreement). As we continue to negotiate both the interconnection agreement and the general contract between the parties, Appendix A (as attached hereto) includes SCC's interconnection and business needs for E911 services. The revisions to the Appendix A incorporate the changes that we discussed on Friday, November 3, 2000. In addition, we have made further revisions to the Appendix necessary to reflect the way in which the parties will interconnect their networks as previously discussed. These additional provisions will be necessary whether the parties reach agreement through a 251 interconnection arrangement or general contract process.

While the attached Appendix A may appear at first glance to have been revised significantly, many of the changes to the Appendix are simply a reorganization of certain provisions (e.g., alphabetical listing of the definitions and placement of certain provisions under appropriate headings) and minor clarifications of certain terms. We will be happy to walk you through the changes.

We also need to consider the necessity of attaching the Network Interconnection Methods Appendix, Interconnection Trunking Requirements, and SS7 Appendices to the general contract that we are negotiating since SCC will need these facilities and arrangements and these Appendices contain the terms of conditions.

Please contact us if you have any immediate questions regarding the revisions to the attached documents. Otherwise, we look forward to discussing these documents with SBC, beginning with the SCC-SBC Emergency Services Agreement tomorrow, Wednesday, November 8th, at 11 am eastern (10 am central, 9 am mountain). We propose resuming the discussion of the Appendix A either tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 pm eastern time (2:30 central, 1:30 mountain) or on Thursday afternoon at 1:30 pm eastern (12:30 central, 11:30 mountain). Please confirm that SBC will be available tomorrow morning and whether or not SBC will be available either Wednesday or Thursday afternoon.
